

15th June 2022

Dear Parents/carers,

As year 12 nears the end of the academic year and they move into year 13 it is essential all students continue to prepare for next year's A Level exams.

To help support and prepare your son/daughter for next year's exams we are planning on completing their first set of mock exams. This will take place the week beginning June 27th 2022. The exams programme (attached on the back of this letter) will include exams for most A Level subjects. A full exam timetable will be shared with your son/daughter detailing their seat number, time of exam and location. This will be given out in the near future.

In order to be successful in their exams staff are going through exam papers and revision questions in lessons. Students also need to ensure they are revising at home by completing exam questions, online homework and making comprehensive Cornell notes.

To give students a full experience of what an exam season feels like, results will be sent home during the final week of term. Any students who have concerns or worries regarding their results should contact their head of year or Mr Gill and we will arrange a meeting to discuss them so all worries are resolved before the Summer Holiday and each student can hit the ground running in September.

If you have any questions or concerns please contact your son/daughter's tutor or Head of Year.

Yours faithfully

Mr S Gill
