Work Experience Week

13th - 17th July 2026

Why is work experience important?

Work experience is a learning activity first and foremost. Committing to a work experience placement doesn't mean you're committing to a career in that industry. So, if you're not sure what you want to do yet, don't panic. Work experience is never wasted as long as you go into it with an open mind, plenty of enthusiasm, and a desire to learn. The most important thing at this stage is to choose something that aligns with your skills and interests, and will challenge you and allow you to grow.

Benefits

- It builds your self-confidence and allows you to show an employer you have the right attitude to work and that you are flexible, enthusiastic and willing to learn.
- It could help you decide if the career path you have chosen is right for you and you will have the opportunity to network with employers.
- It can give you experience of using transferable skills which you can mention on your CV.
- It gives you a chance to feel what it is like to be a worker, not a student!

Not sure what type of work experience is for you?

Start by asking yourself a few simple questions:

- What are my interests?
- What types of career paths appeal to me? Apprenticeship, traineeships, university, college.
- What are my strengths and weaknesses?
- What hobbies/interests do I have or clubs I attend and do they relate to any careers?
- You can also ask other people what sort of careers they think you'd be good at.

Why are we starting so early?

There are approx 4000 students across Plymouth who will be applying for work experience placements for July 2026, meaning that some placements are really competitive. Getting your application in early will give you an edge and a much better chance of securing something you are interested in.

It is really important you don't leave things to the last minute. Researching placements now will show you some exciting options you didn't know you had. It is a good idea to apply for several placements. Don't worry about ending up with multiple offers and having to turn one or more down. This happens all the time in the world of work and is normal.

Parents/Carers how can you help?

Talking to your child and helping them to think about what they would like/would not like in a placement can really help them shortlist their choices.

Good questions include:

- What are their interests, and what careers link to those interests?
- Would they prefer to stay local, or further afield? (If further afield, how will they get there/cover transport costs?)
- Are there any age restrictions for the placement/s they are considering?
- Would they like to experience a potential career, or do they want a placement that might lead to a part-time job?

Talking to friends and family for inspiration and potential leads is also another great way to discover opportunities for your child's work placement.

How to make contact with employers

We understand that reaching out to employers can feel a little intimidating, and you might not be sure how to do it. On the next page, you will find an example email template you could use to help with this, along with a phone script to support you with making calls directly. Trying this yourself is an essential part of the Work Experience process because you will need to know how to approach employers as you move from education into the world of work.

You will also need to record any notes or key information from the phone call.

Making Telephone Calls to Employers for work experience

When you make a phone call to an employer, it is important to firstly write down how you will introduce yourself and some interesting information about yourself such as hobbies, interests, work experience, why you would like to work for this company.

Please find below, some suggested statements that you could use.

When you first get through: “Hello, my name is... I am a Year 10/12 student at [school name] and I am really interested in working in [Name of particular sector of company].

I am looking to undertake a work experience placement from 13th July to 17th July 2026, and I was wondering if you offered work experience placements?”

If they say no they do not offer work experience then be polite “thank you for your time anyway”

If the company might be able to offer work experience... They may put you through to their HR Department, a Work Experience Co-ordinator, Manager or a Supervisor. You may need to introduce yourself again to the new person.

Hello [name of new person], my name is ... and I'm a Year 10/12 student at [school name].

I'm calling as I have been given your details regarding a possible weekly placement with your organisation. Is it possible to meet with you to discuss this further?

An employer will usually ask you what type of work placement you are interested in as some companies may have several different options. It is important to make sure you know which area you want to work in beforehand.

What to do when I get a placement offer I'd like to accept?

Once you have secured a placement you will need to add all the info you have gathered so far about it to Unifrog.

Please log in and scroll down to the bottom of your welcome page, click on 'placements' and add all the information requested.

Our work experience team will then check this and explain your next steps.
